newspaper articles criticizing the playing of the Tech team in the recent game between the two institutions
"represent feeling and opinions of gram continued "Georgia Tech will not under any circumstances consider a game with Centre College next

Dr. Cronshaw said that "Many ar-

IT MEANS MORE

Than just having a good time.

Wholesome recreation is an effective cure for that boy who is always causing trouble in the neighborhood.

Some people say he's "delinquent."

Well, maybe he was, but since joining the Boy Scouts he seems different.

He is just a normal boy full of "pep." The educational and recreational program of the Scouts gave an outlet for his energy and enthusiasm.

"That bad boy" is frequently a good boy with misdirected energy.

Portsmouth has 14 troops of Boy Scouts reaching 366 boys. Do you want this work for boys continued next year?

The vaudeville for today, tomorrow and Wednesday will be presented by the La Toms and by Nelson and Madison.

TWO CONFESS MURDER OF BANK RUNNER, SURRENDER CASH

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Nov. 8.—Frank J. James and Raymond W. Schuch, both of Camden, confessed today, according to the police, that they killed David S. Paul, the Camden bank runner, robbed him of $40,000 in cash and buried the body in the Jersey plains near Taborville. The money was buried in Evergreen cemetery in Camden and most of it has been recovered, the officials stated today.

The killing, Ellis Parker, detective, declared, was one of the most brutal in the history of Camden county.

Paul was slain in Camden, according to Schuch's confession as given out by Parker, on October 5. The detective did not say who did the actual killing.

Murder Was Brutal

The messenger, who was taking about $40,000 in cash and $30,000 in checks and securities from the Broadway Trust Company of Camden, to a Philadelphia bank, was picked up by James, the confessions revealed, according to Parker, at Second and Arch streets, and offered a ride to the ferry. A block farther on, Schuch got in the automobile, which had the back curtains down. Near the ferry, where there was considerable noise, Paul was struck over the head with a half spring used for changing tires. This rendered him unconsciousness, Parker said. Schuch declared in his story, but did not kill him. He was carried several blocks before there was opportunity to "finish the job." Paul was then beaten over the head until his skull was crushed.

Three Body In Stream

Schuch and James then drove to Taborville, according to the alleged confessions, and threw the body into a small stream of water on the outskirts of the town. They then returned to Camden and buried most of the money in the Evergreen cemetery. Paul's body was left in the water until October 14, when the two men made another trip to the pine belt and buried it in the shallow grove where it was found October 16 by hunters.

James and Schuch, the officials announced, will be removed to the Camden county jail, within a few days. James, who is 26 years old, is an automobile salesman. Schuch is 32, and the son of a newspaper man and political leader of Camden.

Country Sick Of Politics, Says M'Adoo

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—William C. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, in a statement commenting upon the national election, declared that "what the country needs is subsidence of passions and hatreds engendered by the war and the partisan political appeals that have followed."

"It is of no value to try to explain the causes of the Democratic defeat November 2," the statement said. "The overwhelming Republican victory has given that party the presidency and both houses of the congress. After March 4 next, it will have entire responsibility for the policies and administration of the government, and can not evade or excuse its failure to perform the promises it has made to the country. Under our political system it is always better to have one party control at Washington than to have divided authority."

What Sick Of Politics

"What the country desperately needs now is subsidence of the passions and hatreds engendered by the war and the partisan political appeals that have followed. The country is sick of political slanders and controversies. It wants domestic as well as international peace and it wants restoration of that fine spirit of cooperation which made America invincible in war. We face domestic and international problems of great gravity. The only way to solve them is through cooperation. The highest duty of the leaders of both parties is therefore to promote better feeling among all classes of our people, to refrain from unworthy appeals to class and racial prejudices and to bring to bear upon our serious problems that dispassionate and intelligent consideration through which alone there is promise of genuine public service."

Far From Dead

"The Democratic party has suffered a severe but not a disastrous defeat. It is far from dead. It is not even seriously wounded. Throughout our history overwhelming political reverses have been followed by extraordinary political recoveries. So long as the Democratic party is true to its mission of service in the common people it will live. What we must do now is to build up and strengthen the party organization, not in the interest of any individual group or faction, but for the cause of the Democracy and for service of the country. It will not be difficult, through proper leadership and organization, to re-inspire party enthusiasm, to restore party unity, to maintain party ideals and principles, and to regain popular confidence. To this task Democratic leaders now must devote themselves with unselfish patriotism and courage."

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

The revival meetings at the Immanuel Baptist church of the last three weeks were a marked success.

Rev. R. L. Champion of Shelby, Ohio, proved to be a preacher of power and skill. The church was greatly revived and many conversions resulted. On the first Saturday evening the church stored the parsonage with a Froit Shower, the delight of the pastor and family. Yesterday was the great day in the campaign when there were 100 at Sunday School and great interest all around. The congregation made a free will offering to the evangelist that exceeded all expectations. During the day the church received 21 new members and all are not in yet.

Wednesday evening will be praise service for the whole church and its friends at 7:15.

Thursday will see the Ladies Aid at the church where they will elect officers for the coming year.

Friday evening will be the Sing for all who will come, 7:15.

The Ladies Missionary Society are rejoicing over the 16 new members received in their campaign for enlistment.

Next Sunday will be a busy day with the morning services, then the baptismal services in the afternoon and reception of new members and the church.

The Pilot's Skill.

The pilot's skill is by no means easily proved in a cabin as in a storm. In the former case he calmly enters the port, untroubled and unimpeded; but when the clouds break, the most heads and the rubber groans, then it is that he shines out in all his glory—fitting the younger.

Lunacy Complaint Filed

William Vandevort, Rush township farmer, filed a lunacy complaint in probate court Monday against his son, Dayton Vandevort, aged 28 years.

The young man has shown signs of mental trouble for some time, but until Sunday did he display any violence, the father said, in advising the court that the son attacked him with rocks and came near striking him.

Shirley Hickey brought the young man into court for an inquest held before Judge Whitman.

Road Contracts to be Awarded Nov. 12. Award of contracts for road improvement in Scioto county, bids on which were recently opened here, will be made by the Advisory Board of the State Highway department until Nov. 12, local officials have been advised.

The proposed improvements include the paving of two miles each on the Portsmouth-Oak Hill and Portsmouth-Jackson roads and three miles of water bound gravel on the Portsmouth-Lancaster western, known as the main road.

The S. Monroe Son company, were the low bidders on the two paving jobs and Arthur Simpson was low for the turnpike contract.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take the bile, trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation, and a quick correction is needed. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

WHAT'S YOUR LETTER

HAVE you ever been chased by a letter? No, not the sort of letter that you forgot to mail for your wife in the morning, but one of the family of 26 in the alphabet. The wise men who study etymology, that high-sounding science of language, are about to spring a surprise. They will tell you that men of notable careers quite often center the high spots in their lives about one letter; that this process is unconscious, and that the letter soon takes on pursuing the personage who has stepped on its tail and thereafter get involved in all his doings.

You don't put much stock in that? Well, you needn't, but a notable example of the theory, which, by the way, sneaks quite a bit of superstition, will serve to illustrate.

The example is Napoleon. M was his letter. Six of his marshals, 26 of his division generals had the initial M. His two marriages and birth of his son occurred in March. At Marseilles Marboeuf first saw Napoleon's genius. His crucial battles included Montebello, Mantova, Miletino, Mordovi, Marengo, Malin, Mont Thabor, Montmirail, Bornano, Montereau, Mery, Montemarte, and at Waterloo, Mont St. Jean.

Metternich worried him in diplomacy. Moreau betrayed him. He surrendered to Captain Maitland. His last residence in France was Malmaison. At St. Helena his companion was Montholon and his valet Marchand. He died in May.

UP TO THE PEOPLE

A SPEAKER before the convention of the American Humane Association made a plea for the elimination of the "vampire" and the bandit from the screen. The suggestion has often been made before at mere censorship by state and national boards does not go far enough. Many reformers have criticized the motion picture industry, and not without some reason. Surely, many films are circulated that are bound to have undesirable influences.

The motion picture men put up an age-old defense. They are not, their claim, guardians of public morality and evangelists. Their purpose, most of them frankly admit, is merely to entertain, or, at most, instruct. What entertains is what their patrons want. They boast that their success has been because they give that.

It is only fair, then, that if rebuke is to be placed for the looseness of certain motion picture standards, that the public should bear no small share of the blame. Certainly if the people would merely remain away from entertainments advertised as sensational, they would remove sensation from entertainment.

Fewer Farms

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—While the population of the United States has increased 10 percent or more during the last ten years, the number of farms in the country has barely increased at all—only 1.3 percent, to be exact.

This fact, that the amount of land which is being cultivated is not increasing as fast as the population, has been pointed out before, but it is interesting to note that the census of 1910 shows that the number of farms in the United States is actually decreasing.

It also shows especially pertinent to set forth these facts right now. Neither of the major parties seems to be taking very much account of them. The appointment of a "real dirt farmer" for secretary of agriculture has been put forward by the politicians as a remedy. Legislation has also been recommended, and will probably be passed, allowing farmers to organize for purposes of selling and buying.

Nothing more is heard of the project which was put forward so vigorously during the war, for the government to create more farms out of swamps, stumplands, and deserts.

Meanwhile, there is every prospect that, unless something is done, our facilities for producing food will soon fall far below our needs. In 1900 it was found that the number of farms had increased about 10 percent in 10 years, which probably meant that the amount of land cultivated was increasing about as fast as the population.

This year the number of farms only increased about a sixth as much as the number of people. The next census may well show a decrease in the number of farms, unless something is done in the meantime.

Why Men Won't Farm

It has been widely stated and implied that the reason for the dwindling number of farms in this country and for the tendency of the food supply not to increase as fast as the population is found in the unwillingness of the young men to go on the farms or to stay there. This, no doubt is the reason. But the implication is that they spurn the farms, not because farming is unprofitable, but because they prefer bright lights, moving pictures and all the other alleged attractions of our great industrial cities.

Representatives of farmer organizations say this is not so. They say that the country is full of men who are not merely willing but anxious to farm, if only they can make a good living at it. They say that this is often impossible, except where the land is rich, transportation facilities of the best, and all other circumstances favorable.

They say, further, that it is very hard for the man who wants to farm to get a farm. Farmlands are held at very high prices in this country, many thousand acres of them lying idle. To buy unimproved land and to put it under cultivation is simply and a pouring proposition, it is said, except on a large scale, and not always then. In other words, the man who has or can borrow a few thousand dollars cannot profitably invest it in farm lands, and that is one very good if not sufficient reason why the number of farms has not increased.

What Figures Show

This view of the matter seems to be sustained in a way by the census figures. They show the increase or decrease in the number of farms in each state. These figures prove that the number of farms is decreasing in nearly all of the northeastern states and in many of the southern and middle Atlantic states, and that it is increasing in some parts very rapidly, in the west.

Of course, one would expect to find the greatest increase in the west, where there are still public lands and relatively sparse population. Even so, the rapid increase in the west would certainly show that men are willing to farm where they can get hold of land.

And farm it at a profit. And the positive decrease in the east would surely seem to prove that men are being discouraged in that section.

The western states which show an increase in the number of farms are Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. That is, practically all of the far western states except New Mexico.

Of the southern states, increases are shown by Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. But the increases in these states are much smaller on an average than those in the western states.

All of the other states show decreases in the numbers of farms. This means not only that the number of farms in New England and the northeast is decreasing, but that the number of farms in the middle west, the traditional granary of America, is decreasing. The west, then, is doing more than its share to feed America.

The south is doing much, but the average increase in that section scarcely keeps up with the increase of population. The middle-west and the northeast are steadily falling behind in food production. They are looking more and more to the west to feed them.

Why West Leads

What then are the conditions which have kept the west in a state of growing agricultural productivity when the rest of the country has become dependent in that respect. No doubt the rich young soil of the region is one reason. No doubt another reason is that there are fewer industrial plants to attract men to the cities.

Neither of these conditions can be artificially altered, of course. The west is inevitably the more productive part of the country, and its prime business is food production, while the east is given more and more to manufacturing.

That rich soil and room are not the only favorable conditions which account for the increase in the west. In the west there are both state and federal reclamation projects upon which a man can get good land for reasonable prices on long time credit. And state laws in the west are far more favorable to the farmer than in most eastern states. Those who are inclined to deny the Non-Farmers League, which enables farmers to own their own grain elevators and otherwise to exercise much control over the marketing of their products, may be interested to know that in North Dakota, its home and point of origin, the number of farms increased 4.5 percent, while in Minnesota, where it has a headquarters, the number of farms increased 11.1 percent.

The northwest in general is the section of the country where the farmers are most progressive and most successful in getting the legislation they want and in cooperative movements. And all of the northwestern states show large increases in the number of farms. Montana leads them with an increase of 110 percent. Oregon shows an increase of 10.3 percent and Washington of 18 percent.

When Bees Go "on Strike"

Bees will not work when they think that their queen is gone. There is something fantastic about their attitude. They become dejected, and morose and lazy—there is a "what the use" drop to their movements. Their only reason for their being is to startle up honey for the young of the future. With need of that gone, they seem to universally agree that there is no need of labor. They sit down on the job, eat until the food is all gone and then starve to death.

Q. Please give the origin of the Indian. S. G. O.

A. No definite solution has been found in regard to the origin of the American Indian. Anatomically, the Indian bears a striking resemblance to the Mongolian. Therefore it is reasonable to believe that his ancestors originally crossed from Asia to North America. The period of this migration cannot be calculated accurately, existed in America at least 25,000 years and not more than 200,000 years.

Q. Are olive oil and cod liver oil fat-building foods? L. A.

A. Both olive oil and cod liver oil are recognized as effective fat-building foods.

Q. Can you go to Africa and be safe from cannibals? A. E. M.

A. The greater part of Africa, particularly South Africa, is civilized and extremely up-to-date in as far as its cities are concerned. Africa today has many large and flourishing cities, and also a large white population.

Q. When was Thanksgiving first observed? C. K. R.

A. Thanksgiving Day originated in the New England states in 1621. After the first harvest, Governor Bradford made provisions for a day of fasting and prayer. In 1623 a day of fasting and prayer in the midst of a drought was changed to a day of thanksgiving because of the coming of rain during their prayers. This was observed annually and soon spread through the New England Colony. In 1817 New York adopted it as an annual custom. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed a day of thanksgiving, and since then the Presidents have issued a Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Q. What is the known depth of oil-bearing sands? H. E. A.

A. The Geological Survey says that there is no known depth for oil-bearing sands. This was observed annually and soon spread through the New England Colony. In 1817 New York adopted it as an annual custom. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed a day of thanksgiving, and since then the Presidents have issued a Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Q. How long does it take fish eggs to hatch? W. K. McC.

A. The incubation period of eggs of the various pond fishes ranges from a few days to two weeks or more, while in other cases, as the trout, the period extends over three to six months.

A. The War Department says these bodies are not cremated; they are encased in hermetically sealed caskets.

A. Have a joint bank account, so that either of you may draw checks against it.

Q. My husband took out his first papers for naturalization, but died before time for final ones. May I take these out? H. E. N.

A. The Naturalization Bureau says that since your husband died before receiving his final papers it will be necessary for you to make a declaration of intention (first papers).

Q. Why is "balled linseed oil" stipulated in some formulas and how should it be prepared? P. O. E.

A. Balled linseed oil is prepared by heating raw oil. It is thicker and darker in color and is not as suitable for delicate work. Heating it improves the drying quality. Balled linseed dries in about one-fourth the time required for raw oil. For this reason some formulas stipulate its use.

Q. Are the residents of the District of Columbia allowed to vote in a national election? J. L. D.

Q. How can goods be tested for wearing qualities? G. A. R.

A. The thumb test will help to determine strength and wearing quality. The fabric is held between the forefinger and thumb while the knuckles of both hands are facing each other. With the cloth held firmly, the knuckles should be forced together, causing a heavy strain on the fabric. Its strength will be shown by the ease or the difficulty with which it tears.

New-York - Day-By-Day

By C. A. McVittie

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys, Rose early and had a cold chicken wing and a leather of wley. Casting my accounts I found two pounds over and I resolved to buy a gift for my wife, poor wretch, but I bought a jar of jam with bread for myself. A wily maid over the city and a light snow falling.

Came news of the passing of J. Rial of the circus, a sweet, gentle soul and the most devoutly religious man over I met. Walked to the pier and saw among others Miss Constance "Tatnall, Briley, the poet and J. Herzhelmer, the man of letters.

Coming upon W. Macfarlane he took me to a gathering and Miss Eleanor Glynn was there and Bayard Rustin who has lately moved to California to be a cinema writer. Much merry talk of this and that and a droll fellow imitated a cat fight with the mews making words.

Home and at my scribbling and a girl with little effort, which always raises my spirits. Read a little from "Main Street" but found it tedious. Started out to dine and we put in at a French place and were busy when upon nothing everyone in evening dress left again. Later to see "Mecene" and so home and to rest.

Broadway hears that Lenore Hughes is to be a Belasco star. She is a Brooklyn girl who danced professionally a few years ago in various hotel grills. Then she went to London and danced with Maurice and became the rage. Moving on to Paris she registered another success. It is reported that she will return for a musical play now being prepared for her shortly.

The whereabout the fellow who wanted to do something big being told to go wash an elephant is being duplicated in a measure by two peripatetic workmen who have for the past week been engaged in scrubbing the great stone lions in front of the public libraries. The usual crowd of smart sets are on hand to brighten their bodies with brilliant quilts. About the next biggest job in town it would appear is for the fellow who monthly cleans the bulls in the huge electric sign advertising a brand of chewing gum.

There is a slight worth watching tonight in the vicinity of the Grand Central station where most of the large hotels are. The line of taxicabs forming three circles three entire blocks. Incidentally there is the chance to pick up the trusting yokel who wants to go to a hotel across the street and take him their via Columbus Circle.

WAVE OF VIOLENCE HITS IRELAND

TORCH USED; MANY CLASHES

BELFAST, Nov. 8.—Wild scenes were witnessed in Londonderry Saturday night as a sequel to a sudden attack on policemen there. Fire police, who were shot, two of them seriously, and that they are not expected to recover; two shops were burned to the ground and several others were wrecked. All the property belonged to Sinn Féiners.

The attack on the policemen was directed against the officers who were guarding the customs house, and a clash followed. The rioting broke out at 9 o'clock in the evening in a busy neighborhood, and so terrified the crowds of shoppers that they fled homeward in a panic. Afterward the police and the military added a large section of the city, holding up and searching everyone they found outdoors and invading and searching numerous houses.

Later in the evening a hostile crowd assembled in Waterloo square, a Sinn Féin thoroughfare, and had to be dispersed by the military. Even after the curfew hour there was almost unceasing revolver and rifle fire for two hours or more, with occasional sounds like explosions of bombs.

Smash Stores
A number of armed men passed down William street, smashing shop windows with the butt ends of rifles, destroying the lamps on the electric standards by rifle fire and plunging the whole street into darkness. Two houses were set on fire, one being a garage, which was completely destroyed. A number of domestic animals were burned to death and the houses in the square reduced to scrap. Many persons left their houses and spent the night in distant parts of the city.

Two wounded policemen were found this in Doyle street.

USE ARMORED CAR
BELFAST, Nov. 8.—Rioting broke out here this afternoon on the Crumlin road. Rifle and revolver shots were exchanged and bombs exploded. One man was arrested. He had in his possession a knife and an automatic.

The British forces, with the aid of an armored car and the police, quelled the outbreak.

PASTOR, DRY ENFORCER, HELD AS SLAYER, IS SPIRITED AWAY TO PREVENT MOB VIOLENCE

WINDSOR, ONT., November 8.—Following rumors of intended violence, police officers early today spirited Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, Methodist minister and prohibition enforcement agent, who has been held in jail here since yesterday morning in connection with the shooting to death of Beverly Trumble, an innkeeper, to the jail at Sandwich, it became known tonight.

Removal of the prisoner was effected quietly and did not become known to others than officers until this evening. The action is said to have followed telephone messages to the jail here that an attempt at violence was contemplated by certain friends of the slain man.

Removal of Spracklin will not prevent resumption of the inquest tomorrow night, it was said, the minister having submitted his testimony last night.

Pending a search for a man known as "Ed Smith" into whose arms Trumble, the inn proprietor, is said to have fallen after he had been shot by Rev. Spracklin, the inquest into the death of Trumble was adjourned early today until tomorrow night.

Smith is said to have seen the shooting and his testimony as to whether Trumble was armed is desired.

Trumble was killed in his hotel early yesterday, while Rev. Spracklin and four other prohibition agents were raiding the place.

Rev. Spracklin testified at the inquest that he shot in self-defense, asserting Trumble had pressed the muzzle of a revolver against his stomach. He also asserted his men had been assaulted by Trumble and guests in the hotel and that Trumble had threatened to kill him. Mrs. Trumble, wife of the slain man, testified her husband was not armed. Local officers say they have found no trace of a revolver. Trumble is said to have had in his possession.

Charges presented against Rev. Spracklin will not be decided until after the inquest has been held.

He was being held in jail here largely for his own protection, it was announced, as feeling is running high in the border cities. All persons entering the court room last night were searched.

Members of Methodist churches in the border cities today pledged funds for Rev. Spracklin's defense. If he is brought to trial.

OVER 400 CASES OF TYPHOID IN OHIO TOWN

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 8.—Twenty-five confirmed cases of typhoid fever developed in Alliance Sunday, and this morning water contaminated by life piping, but about a dozen other cases have been reported, bringing the number up to nearly four hundred of well defined cases. Many other citizens are ill in the plague-stricken city, but fever has not developed. Emergency hospitals have been established, and every possible effort is being made to care for the patients.

One hundred and fifty nurses are kept busy day and night, and Health Officer Dr. E. Schwartz has appealed to Governor Cox to send other nurses to Alliance.

The source of the contagion is not known. Many reports emanate from Salem to the effect that there are over one thousand cases of typhoid fever. This, however, is denied by Health Officer Schwartz, but the rate at which the cases are developing grows increasingly alarming each day.

Every means is being employed to ascertain the source of the contagion, and to control its spread.

There have been nine deaths so far.

Country Sick Of Politics, Says M'Adoo

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, in a statement commenting upon the national election, declared that "what the country needs is subsidence of passions and hatreds engendered by the war and the partisan political appeals that have followed."

"It is of no value to try to explain the causes of the Democratic defeat November 2," the statement said. "The overwhelming Republican victory has given that party the presidency and both houses of the congress. After March 4 next, it will have entire responsibilities for the policies and administration of the government, and cannot evade or excuse its failure to perform the promises it has made to the country. Under our political system it is always better to have one party control at Washington than to have divided authority."

Sick of Politics

"What the country imperatively needs now is subsidence of the passions and hatreds engendered by the war and the partisan political appeals that have followed. The country is sick of political stunts and controversies. It wants domestic as well as international peace and it wants restoration of that fine spirit of cooperation which made America invincible in war. We face domestic and international problems of great gravity. The only way to solve them is through cooperation. The highest duty of the leaders of both parties is therefore to promote better feeling among all classes of our people, to refrain from unworthy appeals to class and racial prejudices and to bring to bear upon our serious problems that dispassionate and intelligent consideration through which alone there is promise of genuine public service."
